The 3rd International Conference of Aerial Archaeology

*“Invisible cities”
Remote and Proximal Sensing in Archaeology:
non-invasive methods for the study of ancient cities*

Lecce, 19-20 May 2022

1st CIRCULAR

A few years after the 2nd International Conference of Aerial Archaeology which took place at the Accademia Belgica in Rome on February 2016, the Ancient Topography and Photogrammetry Lab (LABTAF) at the University of Salento in collaboration with the Ancient Topography and Archaeological Cartography Lab at the Italian National Research Council – Institute of Heritage Science (CNR-ISPC) in Lecce, organises the third edition of this event, with the following topic: “Invisible Cities”. Remote and Proximal Sensing in Archaeology: non-invasive methods for the study of ancient cities.

Hoping to give a fairly representative view of what are the main directions and fundamental methods that drive the Italian and international research, the conference aims at promoting the the study of greenfield archaeological sites through traditional and innovative remote/proximal sensing techniques; ultimate goal is to outline the main research trends in the specific field and to fuel a dynamic and open debate on aerial-survey and aerial-topography in archaeology.

The event will take place in Lecce on May 19th and 20th 2022 in the Castromediano Museum.

Oral contributions should not exceed 20 minutes. A short discussion will follow each presentation.

A poster session will be held in the hall of the Museum.
